

Eszter Gradwohl

Dr. Eszter Gradwohl is a resident doctor at the University of Pécs, specializing in anaesthesiology and intensive care. She has gained diverse clinical experience working in emergency and trauma departments across major Hungarian hospitals, including the Military Hospital Medical Centre and Baglyasi Zalánszky Hospital in Budapest. Her interests focus on trauma management and paediatric emergency care. She holds certifications in Advanced Trauma Life Support, the European Trauma Course, and European Paediatric Immediate Life Support, and is dedicated to advancing education and practice in acute care medicine.

